MADRID, Spain (AP) — Palestinian guerrillas took the Egyptian ambassador and several aides hostage in the Egyptian Embassy today and threatened to blow up the building at midnight — 6 p.m. EDT — unless Egypt pulls out its Sinai negotiating team from Geneva and scraps its new disengagement accord with Israel.

The Egyptian government in Cairo said it has asked Palestinian leader Yasir Arafat to take steps to secure the release of the diplomats in Madrid, and would hold him and his Palestine Liberation Organization personally "responsible for the incident and all its consequences."

A United Nations spokesman in Geneva said there were no immediate plans to call off the next meeting of Egyptian and Israeli Sinai accord negotiators, now scheduled for Tuesday.

The embassy takeover was the first such action in Spain since the Spanish civil war that ended in 1939.

As the embassy siege began, about 40 Palestinian students from the University of Madrid occupied the Arab League office a quarter of a mile away in a rich Madrid residential district, but left two hours later, releasing the Egyptian director and secretary unharmed.

The students said their action had no connection with the embassy takeover, and was meant only to dramatize their identical demand to scrap the Sinai accord.

At the embassy, about five Palestinian gunmen held 55-year-old Egyptian Ambassador Mahmoud Abdul Ghaffar, his press attache and a consul hostage. They agreed to talk with the ambassadors of Algeria and Iraq, but the substance of the discussions was not known.

Scores of helmeted riot police armed with submachine guns surrounded the building, but made no immediate attempt to enter.

The semiofficial Spanish news agency Cifra said it had received a telephone call from the gunmen at the embassy in which they listed their demands:

—Withdrawal of the Egyptian delegation in Geneva.

—A declaration by that delegation to be made at Geneva airport that signature of the Sinai disengagement accord with Israel is "a betrayal of the Egyptian and Arab people and would not serve the cause of peace."

—The Egyptian ambassador and his aides will remain prisoners until the first two conditions are fulfilled.

—If the Egyptian government fails to carry out the demands, it will be responsible for the lives of the prisoners.

The Palestine Liberation Organization, as well as more radical Palestinian groups, have bitterly opposed the recent Sinai agreement which Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger negotiated.

Neither the Palestine Liberation Organization nor any other major guerrilla group claimed responsibility for the embassy takeover, and it was believed the gunmen were part of an extremist splinter group.

Gunman is slain trying to hijack San Jose plane

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A gunman who took a doctor and four other persons as hostages was shot dead by a police sharpshooter early today while trying to hijack an airliner, police said. The doctor was wounded, but no other injuries were reported at the airport, they said.

The gunman, who was not immediately identified, was shot as he emerged from a Continental Airlines 727 passenger jet with a hostage in front of him and pointed a handgun at one of 25 police officers around the plane, police Sgt. Michael Van Dyke said.

The gunman had forced two Continental maintenance mechanics to start the engines of the unoccupied plane earlier, but police had shot out the tires as the jetliner moved down the runway, Van Dyke said at a news conference.

As the plane began moving, the doctor, who had been taken hostage at a hospital shortly before midnight, appeared at the door. A shot rang out, and the doctor tumbled down steps attached to the plane. He was critically wounded but crawled to safety, Van Dyke said.

The doctor was identified as Frank L. Wiefels, a radiologist.

He was taken hostage at a hospital after the gunman kidnaped the driver of a car which he commandeered at a small grocery store, Van Dyke said.

The gunman had fled to the store, which he tried to hold up, from the scene of a rape in which a woman was stabbed in the chest, Van Dyke said.

He went to the San Jose Hospital and Health Center from the store, took Wiefels hostage, and headed for the Reid-Hillview Airport with the two hostages in an auto, Van Dyke said.

At the Reid-Hillview Airport, the gunman took a security guard hostage, switched to a Santa Clara County vehicle and took it and his three hostages to the main terminal of the San Jose Municipal Airport, 20 miles away, Van Dyke said.

He escorted the hostages into the main lobby, where he took the two Continental mechanics as hostages, Van Dyke said.

The gunman and the other hostages were not identified.

The rape victim was identified as Irene Rosas, 28, of San Jose. She was hospitalized with a stab wound in the chest.

Wiefels underwent surgery at the San Jose Hospital and Health Center.

The series of events began about 11:30 p.m. and ended with the gunman's death about 1:30 a.m.

Ford rejects farmers' plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford declined today to end his suspension of grain sales to the Soviet Union, despite the personal pleading of angry American farm organization leaders.

Ford met for 45 minutes with President William J. Kuhfuss of the American Farm Bureau Federation. But Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz told reporters afterward that Ford told them he would not end the grainsales suspension because he wants the Soviets to promise a minimum level of grain purchase to lessen the impact on U.S. food prices.

"I was not completely satisfied," Kuhfuss declared.

He said he sought the meeting with the President to try to persuade him that U.S. farmers are not to blame for the rising prices of bread and meat and to tell Ford that labor unions represent "a selfish interest."

Two wounded in Pomona dispute

Two young men were wounded in a shooting late Saturday night on a Pomona shopping center parking lot in the 2100 block of S. Garey Avenue.

The victims, Michael Moran, 23, West Covina, and Kenneth Crutcher, 23, Baldwin Park, were shot by one of four youths who confronted them there shortly after 9 p.m.

Moran, who was shot in the back, was reported in serious but stable condition today following surgery at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. Crutcher was shot in the

ORDEAL ENDS

Ambulance attendants place the body of a slain gunman on a stretcher at San Jose airport today. The gunman was attempting to hijack a plane with five hostages, including a doctor. A police sharpshooter killed the gunman when he emerged from the plane with a hostage.

Traffic mishaps kill 2 in area

A motorcyclist was killed Saturday night in Pomona and a young motorist, injured early Saturday in another traffic accident, died Sunday afternoon of his injuries.

The motorcyclist, David Andrew Sceifres, 21, 1402 S. San Antonio Ave., Pomona, was pronounced dead on arrival shortly before 10:30 Saturday night after his motorcycle went out of control and hit a utility pole along Holt Avenue near Currier Street.

Police reported that Sceifres was passing two other motorcyclists and was changing lanes when he lost control of his bike. It jumped the curb and slammed into the pole sideways. Sceifres was thrown onto the sidewalk in front of St. Joseph Catholic Church there.

Michael George Schuster, 21, 2501

S. San Antonio Ave., died Sunday of injuries suffered when the truck he was driving was rammed from the rear early Saturday morning. Schuster had been in critical condition in Pomona Valley Community Hospital's intensive care unit since the accident in which four others persons were hurt.

One of those injured, Michael W. Bennett, 18, 1833 S. Huntington Blvd., was the driver of the car which struck Schuster's pickup with such force that it overturned the truck at least two times.

The accident occurred on Garey Avenue south of Beaver Court.

Ford reports drop in September auto sales

DETROIT (AP) — Sales by Ford Motor Co. dropped 20.7 per cent below 1974 averages in the first 10 days of September, the firm reported today.

Industry analysts said total U.S. domestic car sales would be off about 14 per cent from strong year-ago levels, when imminent price increases triggered a model-year closeout buying surge, analysts say.

Ford said that during eight selling days in the Sept. 1-10 period it sold an average of 5,110 cars, down from an average of 6,448 per day during seven selling days in the comparable 1974 period. Sales totaled 40,883 cars, compared with 45,133 in the 1974.

Other domestic makers were to report their figures later in the day.

Sales of imports, which have taken a record 20 per cent share of the American market so far this year, are reported only at the end of each month.

Although car prices are going up again this fall, analysts said there was no indication that consumers were going to showrooms to beat the higher prices as they did last year.

Increases this fall will average about $250 a car, substantially less than the record $450-a-car hike of a year ago.

With introduction of 1976 models less than two weeks away for some car lines, the auto companies are seeking to clear out remaining 1975 models from dealer showrooms.

Analysts estimated that the U.S. companies sold 140,000 cars in eight selling days in the latest period, compared with sales of 142,172 in seven days a year ago.

Grandma, 83, flies Atlantic alone: 'what's all this fuss?'

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Marian Hart, the "flying granny" from Washington, D.C., who flew solo across the Atlantic over the weekend, was grounded today with a bad cold.

The sprightly 83-year-old aviatrix had earlier said she planned to "head down to the Middle East" when she left Dublin, but she gave no indication today of plans to leave.

She told newsmen from her Dublin hotel room that she caught a chill when she took a spin over the Irish capital Sunday evening.

"I'll be staying in all day with my cold," she said. "The weather here is a little too cold for me and I don't think I'll have another flight in Ireland."

She dismissed her transatlantic flight as "just another little trip" and said: "I don't know why there's all this fuss. I just keep flying for the fun of it."

Mrs. Hart, who has logged more than 5,000 flying hours over the years, landed at Shannon Airport on Ireland's west coast Saturday after a flight from the U.S. capital in her 14-year-old Beechcraft.

Airport officials said: "This is about the 10th time this amazing woman has flown the Atlantic on her own."

She is believed to be the oldest woman to fly solo across the ocean but is not known to have claimed any record for her flying feats.

WEATHER

Patchy fog or low clouds late today and early morning Tuesday, otherwise hazy sunshine. High Sunday, 83; overnight low, 58. High today, 86; overnight low, 55. High Tuesday, 88. Sunrise Tuesday, 6:35, sunset, 6:57.

10-cent stamp a real bargain—temporarily

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service says that starting next month it will give at least as good service for a 10-cent stamp as it now does for a 13-cent airmail stamp.

Under the program that takes effect Oct. 11, first-class mail will receive service "equal to or better than airmail," the Postal Service said Sunday.

"For the mailing public, the practical effect of the first-class improvement program is that domestic first-class postage will purchase the level of service that previously only airmail could buy," a Postal Service announcement said.

A Postal Service spokesman said much of the first-class mail destined for distant addresses now is transported by air. After Oct. 11, the Postal Service will guarantee that it will go by air, he said.

This means that there no longer will be an advantage in paying the extra three cents for an airmail stamp.

The Postal Service on Sunday obtained the legal authority to begin the process of increasing postal rates. The Postal Service is expected to do so this week, resulting in an increase in the first-class rate from 10 to 13 cents after Christmas.

Brown vetoes alcoholism treatment proposal

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A $35.5 million alcoholism treatment plan, to be financed by a tax increase on alcoholic beverages, has been vetoed by Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.

In his veto message Sunday, Brown said the legislation looks like a general tax increase, and he has made a pledge to veto general tax increases during his first year in office.

Brown also said he disapproves of the funds going into a single program. He added that there is little evidence the $27 million a year already being spent in the fight against alcoholism is doing any good.

But he promised to scrutinize existing alcoholism programs next year, and expand them where warranted.

The bill was the financial portion of an anti-alcoholism package by state Sen. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo.

Both houses of the legislature passed it despite heavy lobbying by the liquor industry. Brown's legislative lieutenants also opposed it.

Gregorio figured the tax increase at $34 million. He said it would work out to about two cents on a six-pack of beer, seven cents on a quart of distilled spirits, and one-fifth cent on a fifth of wine.

The alcoholism research and rehabilitation program would have required detoxification centers in every county starting in 1979. The centers instead of the jails would receive the public drunks. They would also be open to persons seeking help on a voluntary basis.

As for the tax, Gregorio argued that it would be more like a shift of the burden of alcoholism from the general taxpayers to the heavy drinkers.

He said the heavy drinkers, who are 15 per cent of the population, would pay 75 per cent of the tax.

Before final passage, the wine lobby succeeded in amending the bill to trim out $6 million in taxes on wine. But a similar effort by the beer lobby failed. That would have cut another $15 million out of it.

Supporters say the liquor lobby is so powerful that it has kept California's alcoholic beverage taxes nearly the lowest in the nation.

Gregorio said the legislation was widely supported by public organizations, newspapers, and radio and television stations.

Brown repeated in his veto message that he is pledged to veto all general tax increases this year. "This tax looks very general to me," he said.

"In addition, it would set aside revenue in a separate fund for a single purpose. Whenever possible, I believe tax dollars should go into the general fund for annual appropriation on a priority basis.

"The ravages of alcohol are only too plain. Yet at every level of society, we countenance social pressures to drink and a media barrage that extols the virtues of alcohol. Increasing beer and liquor taxes will change this very little.

"Not every disease has a cure," Brown added. "But whenever the state can help, I believe it should. We now spend $27 million combating alcoholism. Yet there is hardly any data to show the impact of so much effort.

"In the coming year, I intend to see that our many programs are carefully scrutinized and expanded whenever warranted," Brown concluded.

It is SB 204.

THANKS FOR HELPING OUT

Voters may register by mail after July 1

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Democratic Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. has signed into law a postcard voter registration bill which opponents say will increase the number of Democrats on the rolls.

Introduced by Democratic Assemblyman Jim Keysor of Seplveda, the bill was signed Sunday.

It had passed both houses of the legislature, which have Democratic majorities, on strict party-line votes.

After it goes into effect next July 1, voters need only send in a postcard to change their registrations. Special postcards are to be available at public buildings such as post offices.

A voter now has to appear in person to register, or re-register after a change of address or after missing a general election.

Republicans complained that the postcard system would lead to the registration of "tombstones and vacant lots."

They said postcard registration elsewhere has resulted in far more additional Democrats signing up than Republicans.

It is AB 822.

Sign of the times?

New USC course handles disaster

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Buildings topple. Looters ransack houses. Crowds stampede in panic. It sounds like a new movie but it's really the basis of a new graduate program at the University of Southern California.

The USC Institute of Disaster Preparedness begins this semester what it calls a first-of-its-kind program to train city officials to deal with emergencies in their communities. Effective coordination of police and fire departments, public utilities, hospitals and city administrators is required, says program director Robert Stallings.

Students have to unlearn many myths about disasters, Stallings says. There isn't as much panic, looting or breakdown in law and order as commonly believed.

"Studies haven't turned up mass panic," Stallings said. "It just doesn't exist. A breakdown of law and order just doesn't occur. There's more fear of looting in disasters than actual looting."

Stallings said many people are not too ruffled by the danger of disasters, particularly in areas subject to recurring disasters like floods, earthquakes, hurricanes and tornadoes.

"Hurricanes are so common in the gulf states that it's almost a festive occasion. People stay inside and have hurricane parties," he said. "During Hurricane Camille, 37 people were killed in Biloxi, Miss., while sitting around drinking at a hurricane party at a beach motel."

"And there are all kinds of jokes and predictions about what is going to happen when a big earthquake hits California, but nobody's running away."

The situation gets bad if a city is used to a disaster of a certain degree and is hit with an unusually big emergency.

Stallings told of a 1965 New Orleans hurricane that caused flooding from nearby Lake Pontchartrain.

"People were ready for a regular hurricane," Stallings said. "They figured they'd keep their heads down until it blew over. But the city was almost paralyzed by the flooding. They just weren't geared up for the flood danger."

USC also has an eight-day intensive program for full-time public officials, and Stallings said he hopes to take that program "on the road" to Washington, D.C., next summer and offer it to people in federal agencies.

Stallings said his study of disasters has made him a little more nervous than most people. He recently lived in the Midwest and says, "My wife and kids thought I was a nut. Whenever there was a threat of tornadoes, I'd be prancing around looking for flashlights and supplies to take to the basement."

SENATORS IN ACTION

match Sunday in Washington for the benefit of the Freedom of the Press Foundation.

Budget miscalculation freezes hospital hiring

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A miscalculation in the state budget has reportedly prompted a hiring freeze in state hospitals to save $4.6 million.

The report came Saturday in the Sacramento Bee. It quoted an internal department memorandum in the state Department of Health as saying money usually reserved for unfilled jobs was budgeted instead for such purposes as overtime and the training of psychiatric technicians.

The result, said the memorandum, is that only two per cent of the department's jobs have been left unfilled, instead of the usual five per cent.

Senators' karate bout ends in draw

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Republicans and Democrats have failed to agree on yet another issue: which side of the aisle wields the stronger hand and foot.

In what was billed as the "Capitol Hill Grudge Bout," two teams of legislators fought to a draw Sunday in a demonstration karate match.

Senatorial battlers were Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D., and Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, who tied 1-1.

Delegate Walter E. Fauntroy, D-D.C., defeated Rep. Willis D. Gradison Jr., R-Ohio, 1-0, while Rep. Floyd Spence, R-S.C., beat Rep. Tom Bevill, D-Ala., by the same score.

The congressmen fought under amateur sparring rules in which all blows during the oneminute bouts must be controlled. Points are accrued for closeness to contact.

The 67-year-old Burdick, who was warned for excessive contact, scored his point on the smaller, 51-year-old Stevens with his specialty, a wheelhouse back kick. In that move, the player makes a complete turn and thrusts out his leg to his opponent in much the same manner of a horse kick.

Stevens scored with a back punch.

Fauntroy was victorious on a roundhouse kick, while Spence used a back punch to outdo Bevill.

Jhoon Rhee, the internationally known Korean karate expert who instructs the congressmen twice a week in the Senate gym, also put his students on non-combative display before a crowd of about 1,000.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Investigators still weren't sure today what caused a $75,000 fire in a large, office building in downtown Hollywood over the weekend.

Four persons were injured and a number of others trapped briefly on the roof of the Hollywood Taff Building at Hollywood and Vine when the fire swept down a fifth-story hallway, damaging floors immediately above and below.

N.H. candidates engage in verbal combat

Final days of campaigns for Senate

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Bitter personal hostility between Democrat John A. Durkin and Republican Louis C. Wyman is marking the last days of New Hampshire's Senate campaign as the year-long rivals battle for advantage in a Tuesday runoff both hope will be decisive.

The antagonism between Durkin and Wyman flared Sunday, both on and off the air, as they participated in a pair of television interview programs to climax the campaign made necessary when the Senate was unable to decide who won their first race last November.

Durkin accused Wyman of engaging in Watergate-style tactics, while the GOP candidate claimed his opponent had lied repeatedly, as they clashed over a Republican letter to New Hampshire hunters that accused the Democrat of favoring gun control.

"I think it represents a new low in New Hampshire politics, and I'm ashamed of you," Durkin declared after he raised the issue and denied the charge on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

"I'm ashamed of you, Mr. Durkin, for lying time and time again," countered Wyman, claiming that Durkin had changed his gun control position.

An hour later, in another Boston studio, they went through a similar confrontation in an interview taped for showing today on NBC's "Today" show.

Both the 58-year-old Wyman, a conservative Republican who has spent 30 years in elected and appointed posts, and the 39-year-old Durkin, a liberal Democrat who was state insurance commissioner before launching his first bid for elective office last year, said they hope the margin Tuesday will be decisive.

Neither, however, would rule out a challenge if the outcome once more is close.

The Senate now consists of 61 Democrats and 39 Republicans, including Republican Norris Cotton, whose retirement led to the Wyman-Durkin race and who has been serving until a winner is chosen.

State Atty. Gen. Warren B. Rudman authorized election officials to turn over all ballots and tally sheets to the state police Tuesday night for safekeeping to avoid post-election problems.

Politicians here agree the Durkin-Wyman race is close and will be decided by which organization succeeds better in turning out its supporters. The third candidate, American Party nominee Carmen Chimento, a 45-year-old unemployed writer, is given no chance but is expected to poll more than the 1 per cent he received in November.

Some independent observers give Durkin an organizational edge but add quickly this might have been offset by the impact of President Ford's visit last Thursday, which drew large, friendly crowds in areas in which Durkin did well in the first election.

Tuesday's result may show if the Democratic tide of 1974 is still running and will test the potency of charges by Durkin, likely to be echoed by other Democrats next year, that President Ford has sided with "big oil" and other "special interests."

In New Hampshire, it looms as another test of whether this once solidly Republican state is joining its increasingly Democratic New England neighbors.

NYC teachers' strike may end at any time

By MARY CURTIS
Associated Press Writer

An agreement seems near and a ratification vote on a new contract to end the week-long teachers' strike in New York City could come as early as Tuesday, representatives of the teachers' union and the Board of Education say.

But the walkout by teachers in Chicago enters its 13th day today with no end in sight.

"We are near a conclusion, closer than we ever were," said Albert Shanker, president of New York's United Federation of Teachers. The UFT's 65,000 members struck the 1.1 millionpupil school system last Tuesday.

Shanker and Robert Christen, the school board's chief negotiator, said at a news conference Sunday that negotiations had been recessed until today because of Yom Kippur, the Jewish Day of Atonement.

New York teachers, who made from $9,700 to $20,350 under the old contract, have reduced their original demand for a 25 per cent wage increase, in light of the city's fiscal problems. Besides class sizes, issues include school board attempts to reduce teacher preparation time and eliminate sabbaticals.

In Chicago, where 530,000 students and 27,000 teachers have been out of school since Sept. 3, the Board of Education and the city's teachers' union remained far apart in their differences over a cost-of-living salary increase proposal.

Chicago teachers made from $10,400 to $20,996 under the old contract.

Classes were scheduled to open today at the eight Chicago City Colleges and Thornton Community College where three-week teachers' strikes ended Sunday.

In Lynn, Mass., a strike by 820 teachers ended Sunday night with an agreement between the city's school committee and the teachers' union, Supt. J. Leo McGuinness announced.

In addition, teachers in North Providence, R.I. tentatively agreed Sunday night to end their strike with a new contract.

The 250-member union is scheduled to vote on the new pact today. The agreement calls for pay increases of 5.5 per cent. Acceptance will open schools for about 4,500 pupils.

Teachers in two San Jose, Calif. school districts settled their disputes Sunday and were expected to return to work this morning.

The five-day strike by Mt. Pleasant teachers, affecting 3,000 students in five schools, ended when union and district officials agreed on benefits, including a 6.12 per cent wage boost.

San Jose's East Side Teachers' Association reached a tentative accord with district officials calling for an over-all $1 million wage boost amounting to a 5.1 per cent salary increase — the second largest settlement in that district's history. Teachers are scheduled to vote on the agreement Wednesday.

At the end of last week nearly two million students were at home and 125,000 teachers off the job as teachers struck a number of systems throughout the country.

Teachers in six Pennsylvania districts agreed over the weekend to end their strikes, but teachers in three others decided to walk off the job. Across the state, more than 10,000 teachers remained at odds with local school boards over pay raises and better working conditions. About 130,000 students in 21 districts were affected.

A strike by 927 teachers in New Bedford, Mass., continued. Talks in the 12-day-old teachers' strike in Berkeley, Calif., were stalemated despite a new district proposal. Teachers in nearby Milpitas, meanwhile, authorized a possible walkout.

In Hoboken and Englewood, N.J., teacher spokesmen say there is no end in sight to strikes affecting 700 teachers and 13,000 students. And in Wilmington, Del., striking teachers were urged to remain off the job Monday despite a threat of arrest from city officials armed with a court order.

Rebels say they'll kill Americans

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Eritrean rebels threatened today to kill four Americans taken prisoner in northern Ethiopia unless the United States stops supplying arms to the Ethiopian government.

Two of the Americans were kidnapped Saturday along with six Ethiopians when raiders attacked the U.S. Kagnew communications facility near Asmara, the capital of Eritrea province. The Pentagon said the Americans were Navy Electronic Tech. 3.C. Thomas C. Bowidowicz of Jersey City, N.J., and Army Spec. 5 David Strickland of Orlando, Fla.

Two other Americans, Steve Campbell of San Leandro, Calif., and Jim Harrell of Milwaukee, Wis., were kidnapped from Kagnew in July.

A spokesman for the Eritrean Liberation Front in Beirut said the ELF transmitted four demands to Washington through "a U.S. embassy in the Middle East."

In addition to the arms ban the demands included:

—Dismantling the Kagnew base and an Ethiopian naval base under construction at Massawa, Ethiopia's chief port on the Eritrean coast.

—Compensation for areas of Eritrea that suffered heavy damage in attacks by the U.S.-equipped Ethiopian air force during fighting between the rebels and the Ethiopian government last February.

Spotlight on crime

Pomona man arrested after two incidents

A 29-year-old Pomona man was arrested by Ontario police Sunday after allegedly beating a 74-year-old Ontario woman in a store parking lot and breaking into an apartment and attempting to rape another woman in front of her small child.

Ronald France of 212 Rollins Way, Pomona, was booked in the West End Jail this morning for investigation of sex perversion, burglary, and assault with a deadly weapon in lieu of $50,000 bail. France was arrested by Officer Tony Baca near the Southland Market at Euclid Avenue and Maple Street.

Police reported that officers first responded to the parking lot of the Southland Market at Euclid Avenue and Maple Street after several residents called to report that a woman was being beaten. When officers arrived they found Cecil Mae Blades, 74, of Ontario leaning against her car, the victim of a beating about the face and head. Mrs. Blades pointed out a man running from the area as her attacker and officers went in pursuit. Officers lost the suspect in an apartment complex a short distance away.

A short time later officers were called to the apartment complex on reports that a woman or child was screaming inside of one of the apartments.

Baca went to the apartment where the screams were heard, just as a woman came running out screaming. She pointed out a man running away from the apartment complex and said he had broken into her apartment and tried to rape her. Baca went in foot pursuit, capturing France several blocks away.

In questioning Mrs. Blades officers learned that the woman had just exited her car when a man came up to her, and for no apparent reason began beating her.

Mrs. Blades said the man put his fingers in her mouth as he was beating her in an attempt to stop her from screaming. Mrs. Blades said she managed to push the man's hand away and push the horn of her car to attract attention.

The 34-year-old woman in the apartment complex told officers she was lying down watching television when she heard scratching on the window and told her small daughter to open the door to let the dog in. A minute later she said she saw a man part the curtains and run towards her. She said the man jumped on the couch with her and grabbed her by the hair.

The woman said the man pulled her by the hair into the kitchen where he took a cake knife from a drawer and pushed it against her throat, ordering her to disrobe. She said her daughter began screaming and the man told her to keep her daughter quiet. The man then forced the woman into the living room and began to molest her when Officer Baca came to the door. The man fled with Baca in pursuit.

Two men, one wearing a cowboy hat and armed with a small handgun, robbed Earl's Book Store 656 E. D St., ONTARIO, of a small amount of cash Saturday night.

Store clerk Orval Best said the two men entered his store about 10:08 p.m. One of the men went to the beer locker while the other approached the counter. He said the man at the counter suddenly produced a gun and shoved it in his back. The robber then ordered Best to "remain calm" and hand over the cash from the register. Best said the man at the beer locker left first with a six-pack of beer followed by the man with the gun.

Best described the gunman as a Caucasian, 30, 6 feet tall, with brown eyes and hair and a mustache. He was wearing a black cowboy hat. The other man was a Caucasian, 25, about 5 feet 8, with red hair and a mustache.

Colonial rule ends in New Guinea

PORT MORESBY, Papua New Guinea (AP) — Trumpets sounded The Last Post and drums beat Retreat as the Australian flag was lowered at dusk today for the last time in Papua New Guinea, ending 92 years of colonial rule.

Prince Charles, the heir to the British throne; Australia's governor general, Sir John Kerr; Australian Prime Minister Gough Whitlam and about 6,000 other Australians and Papuans were at the ceremony in the football stadium on the shore of Port Moresby harbor.

A guard of honor from the Pacific Islands Regiment fired three volleys as Australia's blue flag with its white-starred Southern Cross and Union Jack was hauled down. Long-time Australian residents brushed away tears.

Tribesmen in warrior's paint and bare-breasted girls performed tribal dances to the beat of wooden drums before Prince Charles inspected the military guard of honor.

Queen Elizabeth's new representative in the world's newest nation, Governor General Sir John Guise, said: "It is important that the people of Papua New Guinea, and the rest of the world, realize the spirit in which we are lowering the flag."

"We are lowering the flag, not tearing it down."

He praised the Australian government, saying the years of transition from Australian rule to independence have been "happy peaceful years."

Australia's governor general, accepting the flag from Guise, said Australia and its closest neighbor, Papua New Guinea, in a long period of colonization managed to avoid policies and relationships that "have proved so tragic elsewhere."

He said the ceremony did not mark the end of Australia's interest or involvement in Papua New Guinea.

Australia remains "deeply and irrevocably committed to Papua New Guinea," he said.

The new nation's first prime minister is Michael Somare, who has been chief minister and whose government enters its new status at one minute past midnight to a 10-gun salute from Australian and New Zealand warships offshore.

The Papua New Guinea flag, red and black flag emblazoned with a golden bird of paradise, will be raised Tuesday morning on Independence Hill, formally marking independence for the nation's 2.6 million people.

'Eve' now has only one personality

FAIRFAX CITY, Va. (AP) — The woman portrayed in the movie "The Three Faces of Eve" says she has recovered from her rare mental illness after manifesting 21 different personalities over 23 years.

"I am confident that I am well," Chris Sizemore said in a telephone interview Sunday night after revealing publicly that she is the woman portrayed in the 1957 movie.

Mrs. Sizemore, 48, the wife of a construction electrician, said she had kept secret from all but her family, doctors and one friend the fact that she suffered from multiple personality.

But it has been a year since her last three personalities "died," she said, and her doctor urged her to reveal her identity as part of her therapy.

"I think they had fulfilled their need — allowing me to face realities I couldn't face otherwise," Mrs. Sizemore said. I came to grips when my father passed away in March. Before, a traumatic experience like that usually brought on a change (of personality). When that didn't, my doctors thought I was cured."

Mrs. Sizemore's condition was diagnosed in 1952 after she had been under psychiatric treatment for a year by Dr. Corbett H. Thigpen, who was co-author of a best-selling book on the case. The movie, which won actress Joanne Woodward an Academy award, was based on the book.

It was Dr. Thigpen who advised her to keep her condition secret. Mrs. Sizemore said. "I think he thought he was doing the right thing for the patient but perhaps it was not right for me because I developed a guilt complex," she added. "My whole family was enclosed. We had no social life."

In the manifestation of her illness, Mrs. Sizemore was "taken over" at various times by 21 different personalities, each with a distinct character, habits, skills and physical mannerisms.

They came in sets of three, ranging from straight-laced housewife, to fun-loving party girl to seemingly well-adjusted, kindly mother.

One personality could not recall what happened to another, she said.

"If I had learned to sew as one personality and then tried to sew as another I couldn't do it," she said. "Driving a car was the same. Some of my personalities couldn't drive."

There have been only about 100 documented cases of multiple personality disorders recorded since the illness was first identified, according to Dr. Arnold M. Ludwig, chairman of the psychiatry department at the University of Kentucky medical school and an expert on the phenomenon.

Her present doctor, Tony Tsitos of Annandale, Va. believes she is cured. Mrs. Sizemore said. But she added: "He can't say definitely it will never happen again. I can't expect him to guarantee it."

Guardsmen still on campuses

After a weekend of minor demonstrations, the court-ordered desegregation plans in Boston and Louisville, Ky., continued today with National Guardsmen and police in both cities standing by to ensure a peaceful day of school busing.

A coalition of antibusing groups in Louisville met Sunday and called on more parents to keep their children home from school.

"You can't expect 20 or 30 per cent of the people to fight your battles for you," said William Kellerman, president of Citizens Against Busing. He disputed school officials' claims that more than 70 per cent of the students expected to enroll were attending school last week.

Some 1,000 National Guardsmen, augmented by extra state police, remain on standby alert, and armed guards continue to ride the school buses. No further violence has occurred, but officials haven't predicted when the Guard or the troopers will be sent home.

In Boston, about 300 National Guardsmen were pulled out of the city during the weekend, but another 300 remained. More than 1,800 city and state police were on school duty again today to preserve the order and calm that marked the first week of classes that began last Monday.

Police motorcycle reinforcements were sent to South Boston High School on Sunday night when a small group of youths threw rocks at the building. Mothers marched peacefully through the streets of Charlestown after dark, carrying flashlights and praying.

School attendance last week rose from 59.2 per cent Monday, the first day of school, to 69.1 per cent Thursday. It declined to 68.4 per cent Friday, a drop school officials said was normal.

School Supt. Marion Fahey described the first week of citywide school desegregation as a "wonderful week. I'm pleased with the progress we made," she said.

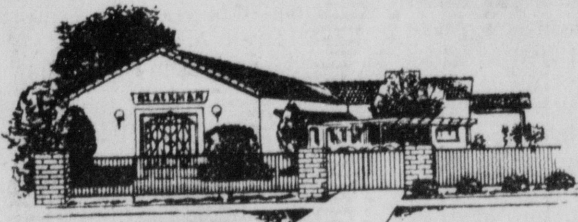

But Miss Fahey refused Sunday to discuss the low attendance of white pupils during opening week.

For the first time a majority of the pupils attending public schools last week was nonwhite. There were 23,953 whites and 28,109 blacks and other minority children in school Friday.

About 26,000 out of a projected public school enrollment of 76,127 were scheduled to be bused this year, and about 60 per cent of them actually rode the buses last week.

About 22,600 students in the city-county school system in Louisville are being bused under the desegregation plan.

Health News . . . Doctor, Can You Cure My Migraine Headache?

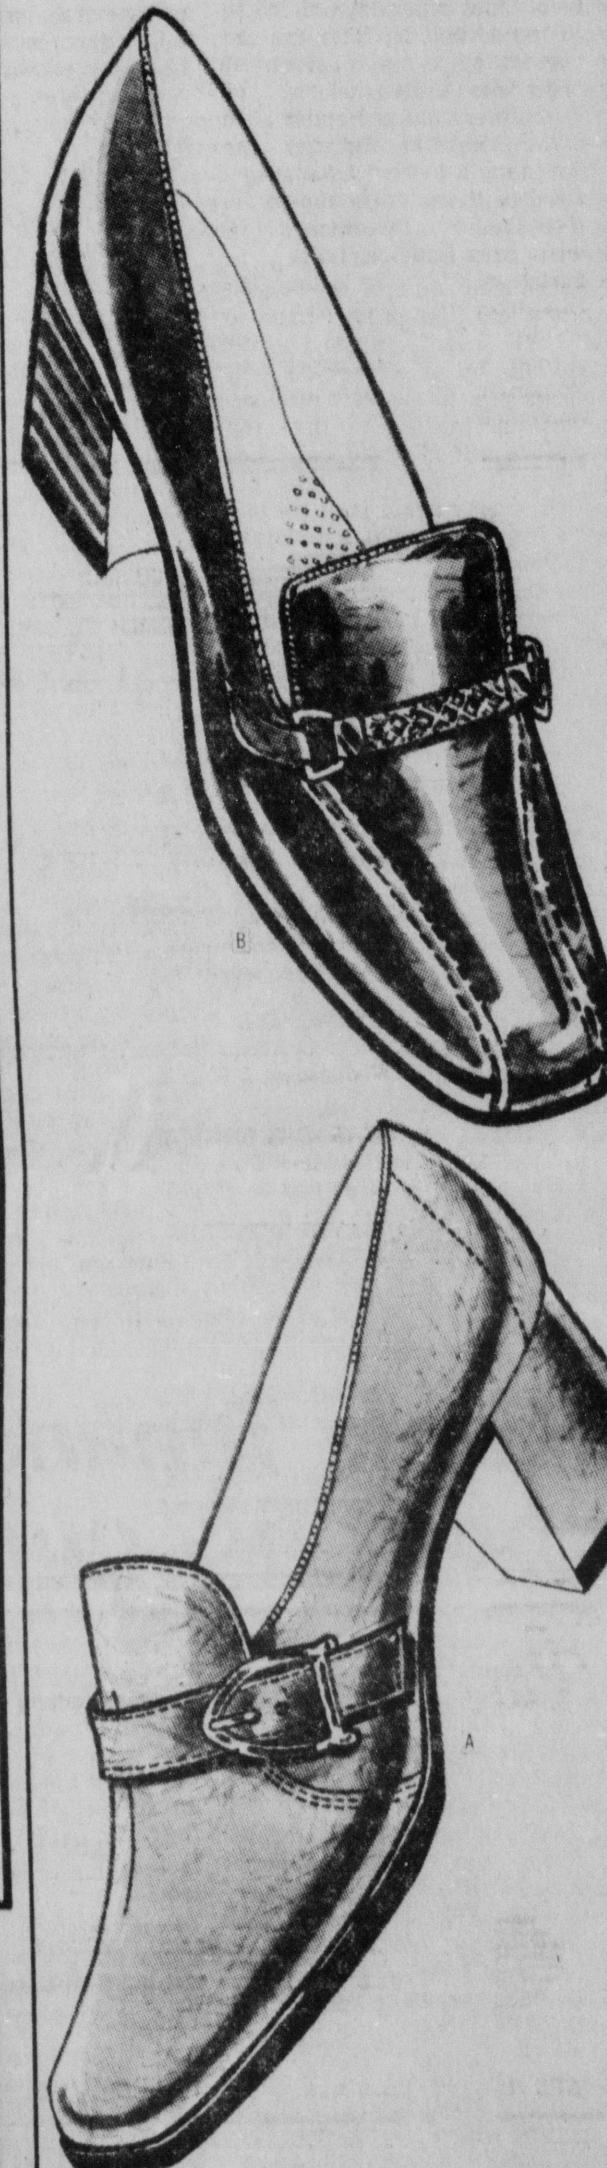

By Dr. W. P. Helzer, D.C.

I've been hearing the above question or statements just like it for as long as I've been a Doctor. I suppose all doctors hear such inquiries.
But I'll tell you one thing: Beware of Bargains in life preservers and parachutes.
I have always wondered how a practitioner can actually come right out and say he can cure something.
By all professional and ethical standards a doctor is surely remiss if he claims to be able to cure anything. Yet, it's apparent that persons afflicted with distressing problems do, in fact, expect literal cure when they seek the doctor's care.
I guess you can say the word "cure" has been stricken from our vocabulary. We speak rather of the permanent removal of the cause of a problem or effective solution of a significant return to health. But I think that in every sense of the word, cure implies a total eradication of the health disturbance with a consequent, absolute return to perfect health.
And I think that ability should only be attributed to God.
Of course, a good doctor addresses himself to a problem with the view that the problem will be totally removed. You must recognize that there is a difference between what one thinks and what one says in this regard. Frankly, I am leery of anyone who claims to be able to cure anything.
Actions speak for themselves and therefore if a doctor were to claim cures he would be, in a sense, trying to talk his patients into believing in his power so that he would not have to effectively demonstrate his ability.
You'll find an odd situation often involving these cure claimers. It always seems they claim they can get the job done quicker and at less cost.
Yet, it stands to reason that total cure would either take longer or be worth a much higher fee if it were simply a matter of snap judgment or snapped fingers.
I am convinced that the ingredients that make up the solution of a health problem are careful and accurate diagnosis, proper and effective treatment, and patient understanding and cooperation.
Bargain-like speed would render the first two requisites impossible and the talk of a quick cure would render the third impossible.

NFL waits for reaction

By The Associated Press

Sympathy abounds among National Football League players for the New England Patriots' lonely strike stance. Whether it can be turned into real support in the next 48 hours will likely determine the outcome of the players' latest rebellion.

The Patriots, in a show of solidarity, voted to strike and forced the cancellation of their Sunday exhibition against the New York Jets in the belief that others would follow their demand that NFL owners and the players' union reach agreement on a new labor contract.

The followers did not materialize over the weekend and now the Patriots face a lockout by management if they attempt to resume practice Tuesday for this weekend's NFL opener against Houston.

Sources said some of the Patriot players would attempt later today to use such team facilities as whirlpools in an effort to test management's threat of a lockout. The league maintains that the players are still on strike, but it has said several times they may not practice or play again until the dispute is resolved even if the players end the strike.

Meanwhile, NFL owners prepared to convene in New York on Tuesday. The meeting was called to discuss the case of John Gilliam, who is seeking to return to the NFL from the World Football League. But it was certain that the meeting would be mostly consumed by the latest problem in a league beset by labor unrest and court suits.

Team after team announced Sunday they supported the Patriots. The St. Louis Cardinals even voted 30-16 to strike, but decided that vote was not strong enough and went ahead with their exhibition game against Denver, which the Broncos won 21-17.

"We do not enjoy this task which we have taken upon ourselves," said Randy Vataha, player representative for the Patriots, who voted 39-2 to strike. Vataha, holding a news conference in a restaurant parking lot in Foxboro, Mass., Sunday, called on the other 25 NFL clubs to join the Patriots on the strike line.

But with one week remaining before the NFL season opens when the players begin drawing regular checks there were no immediate takers. Player representatives for four teams—Buffalo, Denver, Cincinnati and Dallas—said their teams would not vote to strike, and others said they had no immediate intentions of taking strike votes.

In Philadelphia, Eagles line-backer Bill Bergey said today, "I can't think of anybody on our club who would support a strike. Maybe two or three players at the very most. The rest of our guys are all like me... We want to play football."

Hovering over the Patriots and any other team which strikes is this management statement: any team which strikes will not be paid and may not practice or play a game until a contract is signed or until the players union delivers a no-strike pledge.

Washington quarterback Billy Kilmer said players across the league were concerned that the Patriots not be punished for their actions. He noted that the Redskins would meet today to discuss what action they should take, and he said he would vote to strike.

In Washington, Ed Garvey, executive director of the players' union, huddled with aides throughout the day Sunday. Sargent Karch, executive director of the NFL Management Council, did the same in New York. Both said they were willing to negotiate; both said no new sessions were scheduled.

All of which only escalates the hard feelings which have developed since Jan. 31, 1974 when the last contract between the union and the league expired. A strike last summer dissolved in failure without bringing a new agreement.

The impasse which started the problems remains: the union insists that league rules which bind a player to one team are illegal and should be settled in the courts; the league insists they must be negotiated. From those stances, the two sides have never budged.

Among the first losers of the strike were the Jets and CBS. The club estimated it would have drawn a crowd of 15,000 for the Patriots game in New Haven, Conn., and that it lost between $50,000 and $75,000.

Frank Tanana can laugh about his quick departure

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Frank Tanana just laughed about his quick trip to the showers.

The 22-year-old Tanana, who has blossomed into quite a pitcher for the California Angels, departed after a 22/3 innings Sunday and was beaten by the Kansas City Royals 10-4.

"It's the quickest I've exited in a long time," said Tanana, a left-hander who leads the major leagues in strikeouts. "This was the first bad game I've had in 17 or 18 outings."

"It's over. It's happened. I'll have three more starts, and I hope to win them all and I hope to strike out some people."

The Royals jumped on Tanana quickly. Amos Otis started a four-run uprising with a one-out single in the first inning and went to third on a double by George Brett.

John Mayberry hit a single, scoring Otis and Brett. Harmon Killebrew slugged a home run, his 13th of the season and 572nd of his career, into the left field bullpen.

"Otis' hit wasn't that great," said Tanana. "Brett's hit found a hole, and I cracked Mayberry's bat. Killebrew really crunched it..."

"They hit everything I threw up there. If it's on the handle, they hit it and it finds a hole. If it's on the end, they hit it and it finds a hole. I wasn't getting blasted around. I'll sleep well tonight."

Frank White hit an inside-the-park homer off Tanana in the second. It was his fifth of the year.

Brett and Mayberry tagged Tanana, 15-8, for consecutive doubles in the third, and Mayberry scored on a single by Fred Patek. That was the end for Tanana, who has lost only four games in his last 17 decisions.

Tanana struck out five, increasing his strikeout total to 242. He could become the youngest pitcher to lead the major leagues in strikes since Herb Score in 1955.

Irish, B.C. play on national TV

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The dwindling lead of baseball's Red Sox and the sudden strike by the Patriots of the National Football League have to play second-fiddle at least for tonight to the clash between Notre Dame and Boston College, the biggest college football game in the history of New England.

The nationally-televised contest ABC-TV, 6 p.m. PDT was scheduled little more than a year ago and Schaefer Stadium's 63,000 seats—almost twice as many as B.C.'s campus stadium—have been sold out since January.

"If the Pope wanted to get in I couldn't find him a seat," says B.C. publicist Reid Oslin. "Nothing has ever generated this type of excitement at B.C. before. We've sold over 6,000 season tickets to our student body of 8,000 because of this game."

This is Boston College's chance to gain the national football prestige that has passed it by despite strong teams such as last year's, which won its last six games by a combined 270-27 score to finish 8-3 but was ignored by the pollsters and the bowl committees. Notre Dame, of course, is Notre Dame, which means all that is traditional in college football and, as an extra added attraction, the Fighting Irish will be making their debut under a new coach, Dan Devine. The former head man at Missouri and before that at Arizona State returned from the pro ranks to the college game when Ara Parseghian resigned at the end of the 1974 campaign.

Notre Dame is ninth in The Associated Press poll; Boston College is unranked.

"I don't think anything parallels all the talk and interest we've had about this game," says B.C. Coach Joe Yukica, "not only on the team and among our alumni and in the Boston area, but beyond the confines of New England in all the areas where we recruit. It transcends what you usually associated with college football."

"We've never been on national television before, and until you get that national exposure, regardless of what you think you have in the way of ets hangs on to his ankle. Davis picked up five yards and set club record with 141 total.

Game attracts only 11,123

Sun swoons in 4th quarter

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

ANAHEIM — The handwriting is on the wall for the Southern California Sun and the World Football League.

Only 11,123 paying fans, smallest turnout in the club's brief, two-year history, were in attendance Sunday as the Sun swooned in the fourth quarter and lost to the visiting Charlotte Hornets, 30-22.

With a lineup generously sprinkled with players from the Los Angeles and San Diego areas, USC, and UCLA in particular, the Sun has that most valuable commodity, players known and attractive to the home fan.

Anthony Davis, Pat Haden and Johnny McKay head a list of no less than 17 players answering to this description. Sunday was of particular local interest. The club was honoring Haden who was making his last appearance of the year at home.

The former USC quarterback departs for England after the next game which is at Shreveport. The Rhodes Scholarship winner will return to the Sun next year . . . if there is a next year for the team and the league.

The USC band played at halftime and the Trojan mascot, Traveler, ridden by Richard Shaklo in his Trojan Warrior costume, raced around the warning track when the Sun scored.

Despite this, the fans stayed away in great quantities probably to watch two NFL games on television . . . even though one was a re-run of a game played Saturday night.

One has to wonder at the thinking of the WFL braintrust which decided to switch the games from Wednesday and Thursday to Saturday and Sunday where they buck college and NFL games.

The Sunday dates are especially bad since it makes the WFL teams buck NFL games (as many as two or three) on home TV.

It was this one decision in particular that probably sounded the death knell for the WFL before the season ever began.

The league is averaging only about 10,000 per game and there is no way it can continue at that rate. Southern California is supposed to be one of the better franchises and Sun attendance is steadily declining.

Biggest crowd of the year was on a weeknight, Friday, August 3, when 15,083 showed up to see the Sun play the Philadelphia Bell. The two Sunday games have drawn a total of only 24,380.

Playing on Wednesday nights last year, the Sun averaged MORE THAN THAT EACH GAME. The few fans that showed up Sunday saw another down-to-the-wire thriller although the Sun's general lethargy cost it the game.

They saw Haden, who sat on the bench most of the second half, enter the game with the ball on the Sun 34 and only a minute and three seconds left. The Sun was trailing, 30-22. But

Santa Anita hosts biggie

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — Doug Rau and Burt Hooton continue to be the Dodgers' most consistent pitchers.

Rau (14-9) beat the Atlanta Braves, 3-2, Sunday for his fifth straight win and the Dodgers' sixth in their last seven games. Hooton (16-9) goes for his 11th straight victory tonight as the San Diego Padres open a three-game series.

Hooton has the longest streak in the National League and can tie the club record held by Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale. Rich Folkers (6-9) will be his opponent.

Rick Rhoden (2-2) and Brent Strom (8-5) are scheduled Tuesday. Andy Messersmith (17-14) and Joe McIntosh (8-13) pitch the finale Wednesday night.

Ron Cey's two-run homer, his 24th of the year and 18th at Dodger Stadium, gave Rau his win. The Braves had taken a 2-1 lead in the sixth inning on two-out singles by Earl Williams, Clarence Gaskin and Darrell Evans.

The Dodgers came right back in their half of the inning. Willie Crawford beat out a bunt. Steve Garvey forced Crawford. But Cey knocked the ball into the left-center field pavilion.

Lee Lacy knocked in the first Dodger run in the third. Dave Lopes walked and stole second. Lacy hit a blooper to short right center and Braves' second baseman Marty Martinez fell down and the ball dropped in with Lopes scoring easily.

"I'm going to the Dominican Republic this winter," said Lacy, "play the outfield and second base and work with Davey Lopes who will be playing shortstop and see what happens."

Lacy raised his average to .316 with two singles and threw out

Haden nearly passed the Sun to a touchdown only to have time run out with the Sun on the Hornet's one-yard line.

They saw Davis break Kermit Johnson's single-game club rushing record of 137 yards. Davis averaged 8.29 yards per carry on 17 carries good for 141 yards and two touchdowns. It is the fourth time the former USC tailback has gone over the hundred yard mark in a game.

The contest was tied, 15-15, after three quarters. Daryl Lamonica, who quarterbacked most of the second half, drove the Sun 68 yards in five plays, passing to Keith Denson for the touchdown.

The former Oakland Raider, making his first appearance since being sidelined for hernia surgery, completed two of three passes in the drive, both to Denson, for distances of 12 and 31 yards.

As usual, the action point play failed (The Sun has made only seven of 28), but Southern California led, 22-15.

The two teams exchanged fumbles on the kickoff and first play from scrimmage. Then the Hornets went 72 yards in eight plays plus two Sun penalties to score the tying touchdown.

Charlotte MADE the action point good and led 22-22. Sun opponents have made good on 36 action point plays against the Sun.

Lamonica couldn't move the Sun. Alvin White's longest punt of the day, 41 yards, was returned 50 yards to the Sun 27.

It took the Hornets five plays, with Don Highsmith smashing over from the one, to score.

Lamonica, who generally was as rusty as might be expected after the long layoff, was intercepted for the second time when the Sun got the ball next. He had also fumbled to set up Charlotte's go-ahead TD.

The next time the Sun got the ball,

Haden replaced Lamonica. Starting with 1:03 left on the clock, Haden missed his first pass attempt then hit four in a row.

They went to Keith Denson (31 yards), Bill Kramer (13 yards), Bobby Ferrell and Terry Lindsey (eight yards each). That gave the Sun a first down at the Charlotte eight with 18 seconds left.

Haden, finding his receivers covered, ran for six yards to the two. The Sun lined up quickly and Haden fired over McKay's head stopping the clock with eight seconds left.

Haden tried to sneak the ball over and was stopped at the one. Time was called with one second left. Haden was knocked cold on the play and Mike Ernst took over at quarterback. Ernst handed off to fullback Greg Herd who was stopped for no gain.

But the Hornets were offside on the play! With the clock having run out there was still going to be one more play. Again Ernst handed off to Herd and again Herd was stopped dead for no gain.

This time the game was over. The season and WFL itself may soon end, but the Sun while it has been in existence, has certainly offered exciting football.

Doug Rau now on win streak

another runner, his fifth in only 30 games in the outfield. His value to the Dodgers (and any club) has soared.

DODGER DATA — Rau has not lost at Dodger Stadium since May 24 against the Cardinals. His 14 wins is the most ever in the majors and ties his high in the minors when he won 14 for Albuquerque in 1972. He has more starts (36), more complete games (7), pitched more innings (242 2/3) and has more strikeouts (143) than last year's major league highs.

Cey has 91 runs batted in and has tied Jimmy Wynn for the most homers at Dodger Stadium in a season. Davey Lopes stole his 71st base and scored his 98th run. Only Dodger to score 100 runs since Maury Wills scored 130 in 1962 is Wynn who tallied 104 last year.

The Dodger organizational meetings started today and continue through Wednesday. The Dodger front office, manager Walter Alston and his coaching staff, Peter O'Malley, minor league managers and instructors and 27 scouts are participating.

OH NO! — Jack Nicklaus bites his lips as he misses putt on the 16th green enroute to winning World Open. Nicklaus went on to win playoff with Billy Casper.

Richard Petty denies he'll retire

DOVER, Del. (AP) — There have been a lot of rumors lately that Richard Petty is about to retire. But the stock car racing king feels he has too much luck going for him to hang up his helmet.

"Anybody as lucky as I am would be foolish to quit," Petty said Sunday after coming back from near elimination because of mechanical problems to win the Delaware 500 Grand National stock car race.

Petty was breezing along with a lead of better than a lap when his 1974 Dodge tangled with some debris from another car's broken engine and snapped a tie rod.

His crew worked feverishly to repair the damage, but by the time Petty went back on the Dover Downs International Speedway track, he was eight laps behind in eighth place with less than 150 laps to go in the 500-lap NASCAR race.

Some drivers might have called it quits. But Petty, NASCAR's all-time leading money winner and the leader in this year's Grand National competition with 10 victories, went out charging.

"As long as one of our cars is running and the wheels are turning, we never stop," Petty said.

Slowly, the Randleman, N.C., ace gnawed away at the deficit, and with less than 20 miles to go pulled within striking distance of front-running Benny Parsons and Richard Brooks.

Then, Petty got a break from the officials. The yellow caution flag went up, and Petty, with fresh tires and a full load of gasoline, moved up even with Brooks and Parsons.

When the green flag came out with six miles left to run, Petty pushed the accelerator of his red and blue Dodge to the floor, zooming into the lead and holding on to beat Brooks by less than 100 feet. Parsons was just behind Brooks in third.

"One bad break put us behind, then another break (the caution flag) gave us a

Bobby Unser in hospital

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Race driver Bobby Unser was expected to remain until at least Wednesday in Foote Hospital here, where he underwent surgery Saturday to repair a broken leg.

He was listed in satisfactory condition, and "in quite a bit of pain," a hospital spokeswoman said Sunday night.

The two-time Indianapolis 500 winner broke his right leg in three places at the knee Saturday when he crashed at the finish of a 150-mile race at nearby Michigan International Speedway.

The spokeswoman said the 41-year-old Unser, of Albuquerque, N.M., would wear an ankle to upper thigh cast for 6-8 weeks after being released, but should have "a good recovery."

Nicklaus wins again

Having best year

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — A very satisfied Jack Nicklaus considered the question carefully. "This is the year of my best golf," said the man who, at age 35, has achieved a record unmatched in this ancient game's history.

"This would have to rank with '72 among my best years," he said. "I won more tournaments in '72 a total of seven, but from a standpoint of consistency, from the way I've played week in and week out, this is better."

"This is the year of my best golf, but not my best year of record."

Still, his record this season is all but overwhelming. His Sunday playoff victory over Billy Casper for the World Open title gave him five wins — including the Masters and PGA — for the season that isn't yet complete. No one else has won more than three.

The $40,000 first prize pushed his money winnings for the year to $291,000 — a figure that has been surpassed only twice — and all but clinched a record seventh money-winning title.

His winning score of 280, four under par on the 7,007 yards of piny woods and sand hills that make up the No. 2 course at the Pinehurst Country Club, left Nicklaus with a leading stroke average of 69.9 for the year.

Perhaps even more impressive is his record of near-misses. In 17 starts this year, including the British Open and the World Series, he has been second twice, third four times, fourth once and finished lower than ninth only twice. And it was to that record, that list of near-misses, that he turned in the wake of his 59th career triumph.

"I darn near won almost every tournament I played since May," he said. "There were only three tournaments, Hawaii, Fort Worth and the World Series, when I really wasn't ready to play."

He finished out of the top 10 in Hawaii and the Tournament Players Championship at Fort Worth, and failed to win as a heavy favorite in the World Series.

"I couldn't make myself work. I couldn't make myself get ready. I don't like myself when I play like that."

"I would have been happy in this one even if I hadn't won because I played well."

"It was exactly like the U.S. Open. Only there I gave it away. This time I got in position to win. I stayed in there."

Table tennis titles to Guillen, Rosal

Ray Guillen of Los Angeles and Angie Rosal of San Diego won the open singles championship of the 27th annual Pacific Coast Open Table Tennis Championships at Chaffey College Sunday night.

Second-seeded Guillen defeated top-seeded Paul Raphael 15-21, 21-19, 21-15 and 21-14. Top-seeded Miss Rosal won the title by beating her sister, Monica

"At the British Open I really didn't play all that well in the last round."

"If things had gone differently in those two tournaments, it could have been an unbelievable year."

"But that's part of the fun. Trying. Trying to win. Even when you don't. That's the fun of it."

This time he came from five strokes back of old friend Tom Weiskopf with a solid last-round 69 — the best score of the tournament.

And then, after Casper's 70 tied him at the end of the regulation 72 holes, he rapped out a par on the first extra hole that was good enough against Billy's bogey.

Weiskopf, the third-round leader, dropped back into a tie with a front-side 39, lost and regained a share of the top spot, then needed only a par on the last hole to reach the playoff. But he made bogey and finished with a 75-281, one shot too many.

Rosal, 21-13, 21-16, 21-18. Guillen teamed with Denis Barish to win the men's double title by defeating Raphael-Joe Sanchez 20-22, 21-18, 21-12, 21-11.

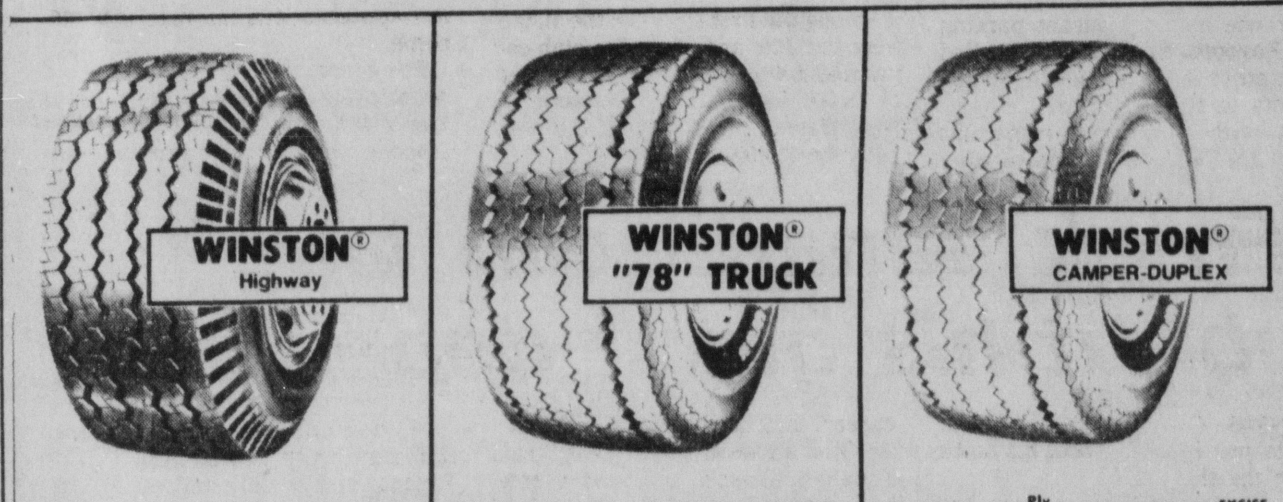

Angie Rosal and her brother, Stan, combined forces to defeat Heather Angelinetta-Guillen for the mixed doubles title by scores of 21-13, 19-21, 21-18, 7-21 and 21-19.

Wake Forest pulls the biggest surprise

By The Associated Press

Part of the problem in trying to recruit football talent to Wake Forest University is that it's located in Winston-Salem, N.C., and most flights require a change of planes somewhere along the way.

"We've never recruited a player who hand to change planes to get here," Coach Chuck Mills, a former Pomona-Pitzer coach, observed following last year's dismal 1-10 record.

But a few more victories like Saturday's 30-22 upset of 15th-ranked North Carolina State and the air-lines may schedule a few more direct flights. Jerry McManus ran 11 yards for one touchdown and passed eight and 29 yards to Bill Millner for two more scores as the Demon Deacons posted the biggest surprise in an early-season rash of upsets.

The first full-scale weekend of the season also included Memphis State's 31-20 shocker of seventh-ranked Auburn. South Carolina's 23-17 triumph over a Georgia Tech club that was rated the South's best independent, Tulane's 17-13 victory over Clemson on the losers' "Death Valley" backyard. Northwestern's 31-25 upset of Purdue. Rice's 24-7 decision over Houston and Texas-Arlington's 24-7 surprise of Texas Christian.

Most of the top teams came through unscathed. Oklahoma's defending national champions, No. 1 again in The Associated Press ratings, swamped Oregon 62-7, runner-up Michigan throttled Wisconsin 23-7, third-ranked Ohio State stifled No. 11 Michigan State 21-0 and No. 4 Southern California rolled over Duke 35-7.

Missouri, rated fifth following last week's 20-7 battering of then second-ranked Alabama, was idle while No. 6 Nebraska edged Louisiana State 10-7. No. 8 Texas A&M shaded Mis-issippi 7-0 and No. 10 Penn State trimmed Stanford 34-14. Ninth-ranked Notre Dame meets Boston College tonight at Foxboro, Mass., in a nationally televised contest (ABC-TV, 6 p.m., PDT).

In the Second Ten, No. 12 Texas walloped Colorado State 46-0. No. 20 Tennessee downed No. 14 Maryland 26-8. No. 16 UCLA crushed Iowa State 37-21 and No. 19 Florida mauled Southern Methodist 40-14. Alabama, Arizona and Pitt, ranked 13th, 17th and 18th, respectively, were not scheduled.

Wake Forest and N.C. State were tied 14-14 at halftime but McManus' first touchdown pass to Millner put the Deacons on top for good in the third period. In the fourth quarter, Bob Hely kicked a 32-yard field goal and McManus again hit Millner for a score.

"It was a great effort," Mills said. "It's good for the kids. They have taken a lot of crap from everybody. Maybe this will get us out of the bottom 10. We didn't quit, but I don't think we have quit in the past. We have just been out-manned."

Memphis State's upset of Auburn was directed by sophomore Kippy Brown, who led the Tigers to a 24-0 halftime bulge and threw two scoring passes.

Tinker Owens, Horace Ivory and Jim Culbreath each scored twice against Oregon as Oklahoma stretched the nation's longest winning streak to 21 games.

Pete Johnson tallied twice and Cornelius Greene hurled a 64-yard scoring pass to Len Willis as Ohio State extracted a measure of revenge from Michigan State for last year's upset that knocked the Buckeyes out of the No. 1 ranking.

Michigan whipped Wisconsin as Gordon Bell carried 28 times for 210 yards and caught a seven-yard touchdown pass from Rick Leach, the first freshman ever to start at quarterback for the Wolverines.

Nebraska nipped LSU on Terry Luck's five-yard scoring pass to Bobby Thomas and Mike Coyle's 37-yard field goal. Texas A&M protected a first-period touchdown by holding Mississippi to 82 yards in total offense.

Freshman Tom Donovan reeled off 61 of his 114 yards on one scoring jaunt as Penn State drubbed Stanford. Marty Akins scored twice to lead Texas past Colorado State.

Stanley Morgan scored two of his three touchdowns on runs of 50 and 70 yards as Tennessee repeated its Liberty Bowl triumph over Maryland. John Sciarra led UCLA over Iowa State by rushing for 108 yards, passing for 117 and scoring three times.

And Don Gaffney ran for one touchdown and passed to Wes Chandler for two more, pacing Florida over SMU.

Friday night, Ricky Bell smashed Southern Cal's single-game rushing record by gaining 256 yards and scoring four touchdowns.

Sports briefs

ICHIHARA, Japan — Billy Dunk of Australia fired a four-under-par 68 and won the $66,666 Sanpo Classic Golf Tournament by two strokes over Lon Hinkle of San Diego.

KANSAS CITY — The Kansas City Chiefs will receive three Houston Oilers draft picks as compensation for wide receiver Elmo Wright who played out his option with the Chiefs and signed with the Oilers.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Vijay Amritraj of India captured the men's singles title of the Carolinas International tennis tournament with a 3-6, 7-5, 6-4 victory over Ilie Nastase of Romania.

LOS ANGELES — Torben Ulrich and Frank Sedgman scored semifinal victories in the $15,000 Grandmasters tennis tournament to advance to Monday night's final.

ALISON WOOTON

Pomonan competes in finals

When Alison Wooton competes next weekend in the national speed water skiing championships for 13-15-year-old girls, it will be nothing new for the 15-year-old Pomonan.

She has already won two national titles in younger age brackets as well as a batch of lesser championships.

Alison took up skiing at the age of 7½ and went into competition a year later. She was the national runner-up that year in the nine-years-and-under class, but came back the following year (1969) to cop the national title in that division.

She repeated that performance in the 10-12-year-old class when she placed second one year (1971) and first the next.

In addition to those national honors, Alison has won the Pacific Coast and Northern California championships in her class. In the women's open division of those two competitions, she placed second and third respectively. She has also captured the regional high point crown three straight years.

In 1974 Alison went with the U.S. water skiing team to Australia, where she won two events and placed in two.

She will compete in this year's nationals Friday, Saturday and Sunday on Clear Lake at Lakesport, Ca., with teammates Ron Wilson and Bill Kent.

British wrap up net title

CLEVELAND (AP) — The British were calling it a Golden Jubilee after their third-ranked women tennis player, Glynis Coles, swept past America's Mona Schallau 6-3, 7-6, and clinched Wightman Cup tennis match.

The 5-2 triumph on Sunday marked the first time in 50 years that the British had prevailed away from home in the competition that began in 1923.

Miss Coles' victory was the visitors' fourth in the best-of-seven series for U.S.-British women's tennis supremacy. Later she shared in a final doubles victory that left the score 5-2 in her homeland's favor.

"Winning twice in a row strengthens the rivalry between the U.S. and Great Britain," said British captain Virginia Wade. "We won twice just to prove we could do it."

The Yanks took a 3-8 advantage into the 1975 matches, although they lost last year 6-1 at Deeside, Wales.

The home team began play Sunday down three matches to one. Miss Coles wrapped up the victory after Chris Evert kept American hopes alive with a 6-3, 7-6 victory over Miss Wade.

The tall, blonde Miss Coles overpowered her petite brunette opponent with a brutal topspin backhand followed by crisp volleys to the open side of the court.

In the Stretch

LONGSHOT BONANZA — Racing officials across the land are constantly faced with the perplexing decision of choosing between the daily double on the first two races or an exacta on the first race.

Western Harness management opted for the $2 exacta on the opening heat and for those who have been successful in their exacta wagering during the early stages of the Hollywood Park night session, the decision is a popular one.

The exacta generally produces medium-priced payoffs. But not this season. Returns to holders of winning two-dollar exacta ducats during the first five evenings were $153.50, $164.20, $183.20, $124.80 and $556.80.

Post positions two and four each started the lusty payoff on two occasions, while the number nine steed twice rallied to take the place award and complete the super return.

Meanwhile, the loser's cry remains, "Bring back the double."

POPULAR TRIUMPH — Del Mar's record-setting meet established one new mark which was inadvertently omitted from the final statistics. Largest crowd for a winner's circle ceremony.

Undoubtedly the turnout to welcome back Telly's Pop following the colt's triumph in the $111,925 Del Mar Futurity was a new high. There barely was room for the gutty son of Bold Combatant, who now must be regarded as the western juvenile champion.

Telly's Pop is the 10th supplementary to win the Futurity and while co-owner Telly Savalas has gathered the lion's share of the ink, in regard to ownership, the triumph, according to trainer Mel Stute, can be credited to movie producer Howard Koch, who sold Savalas a half-interest in the colt after he had purchased him from Stute.

"If he had been my colt," admitted Stute, "I wouldn't have supplemented him. But following his last work, Howard said, 'Go ahead, it's only $6,000' and that was good enough for me."

It was good enough for his owners, too. A pay check of $66,275. And it was much too good for Telly's seven rivals.

Turns the tables — Laffit Pincay, who on seven occasions has directed millionaire Susan's Girl to victory in stakes competition, turned the tables on his one-time feminine companion last Wednesday.

Pincay, collecting his first stakes triumph since returning to action following a 50-day period to recover from a fractured collarbone, won the $58,400 Maskette Handicap in New York with outsider Let Me Linger at $31.60. The What A Pleasure filly, like Susan's Girl a Florida-bred, defeated Honorable Miss by a nose with Susie three and one-half lengths back in third.

Ray Broussard handled Susan's Girl, who added $6,918 to her lusty bank account, moving her to within $40,000 of Cougar II on the all-time roster. Cougar ranks tenth on the list.

GOES OUT IN GLORY — "I really like him, but we'll give him a chance in the stud. Charlie feels he's earned it and so do I."

So spoke owner Burt Bacharach, who was back at Del Mar for a closing day program before heading for an opening of his nightclub act in Vegas.

Bacharach was referring to Bdashd, the seven-year-old Bagdad stallion who had come back from two fractured sesamoids to win six races this year but pulled up with another fracture following a galloping victory in his last Del Mar start.

He's out of a Bold Ruler mare and if he'd been sound, who knows? At four, he was training like he might be any kind, according to Whittingham. Burt explained, "He was off almost two years but he's been a good one since he came back, but in lesser company. I hope he makes it in stud, he's a real pet."

Bdashd, with seven wins in 10 starts this year, had been the leader in providing the Bacharach stable with one of its best seasons.

CHICAGO BOUND — Darrel McHargue, new riding champion of Del Mar, is Chicago bound, with plans to ride in the Windy City until Oak Tree opens Oct. 4.

McHargue spent Thursday in Los Angeles, moving into new quarters to await competition at Arcadia. "I can't wait for Oak Tree and Santa Anita," exclaimed the popular new turf and surf champion.

EASIER TRAVELLING — Don Pierce, the horsebacking Escondido rancher, is in Seattle this weekend for a stakes engagement and he'll journey to Chicago next weekend for the $100,000 Secretariat. For several days, Pierce was thinking of junking both trips and heading south of the border.

Don recently picked up the riding assignment on Joseph Morjoseph's Larrikin, guiding the sophomore to victories in the La Jolla Mile and the Del Mar Derby in their two meetings. He then was signed on to handle Larrikin in the rich Secretariat.

Meanwhile, Neil Drysdale, who conditions Forceten, with whom Pierce won the $209,000 Swaps Stakes and several other contests, decided against the rich Marlboro Cup in New York. He selected as Forceten's next engagement, the Secretariat.

Not knowing how to ride Roman style astride both mounts, Pierce contemplated his border trek. But before he could pick up a passport, Drysdale determined the Secretariat also was too soon for his comebacking star and reported he would wait until Oak Tree for a return to competition.

Breathing easier, Pierce now is looking forward to his weekend excursions.

Snead runs 49er offense

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Coach Dick Nolan has another old pro, Norm Snead, running the San Francisco 49ers' offense.

"Norm has been around so long that when he gets something new to work with, he's going to pick up 90 per cent of it right away," Nolan says of the 36-year-old quarterback who has had six pre-season games to get that last 10 per cent down pat.

"Norm knows this game, and so does Steve Spurrier. This could be a very good football team, one that could go to the Super Bowl," said Bob Hayes, the wide receiver who played with a Super Bowl championship Dallas team and is now catching passes thrown by Snead and Spurrier.

Hayes' optimistic appraisal of the 49ers, a club that lost seven straight National Football League games last season and finished 6-8, came after a 44-10 exhibition victory over Denver in which the two veteran quarterbacks combined for 206 passing yards, completing 16 of 21 attempts.

"We have three fine quarterbacks and they're all healthy," said Nolan. "One year ago, we weren't healthy."

The 30-year-old Spurrier, who waited so long on the sidelines as John Brodie quarterbacked the 49ers, suffered a leg injury on the eve of the 1974 season and missed virtually all of it. Snead came to San Francisco from the New York Giants in mid-season and promptly hurt a knee.

So Tom Owen, a rookie, was the No. 1 quarterback most of the troubled season. He's now No. 3.

The 49ers have a solid group of young running backs led by Wilbur Jackson, who gained 705 yards as a rookie last season, and experienced receivers in Hayes, Gene Washington, Tom Mitchell and Speedy Thomas.

But the offensive line may be a weak spot, unless second-year tackle Keith Fahnhorst comes through big as a new starter and center Forrest Blue shows he's fully recovered from a summer knee injury.

If Snead and Spurrier stay healthy through the first two regular season

Chargers get Baker

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Tony Baker, who got the nickname "Touchdown Tony" for his touchdowns and first downs for the Los Angeles Rams, has been traded to the San Diego Chargers for an undisclosed future draft choice.

Baker, an eight-year veteran from Iowa State, had been with the Rams since 1973 when he was acquired from Philadelphia in the Roman Gabriel trade.

In his first season with the Rams he made good on 28 of 41 rushing tries for first downs and led Los Angeles runners with seven touchdowns.

In 1974 Baker, 5-foot-11 and 215 pounds, carried 53 times for 135 yards and five touchdowns as a short yardage specialist. Baker was with the New Orleans Saints three years before going to the Eagles where he played for a year and a half.

The Chargers also said Sunday that middle linebacker Charles Anthony, a second-year man from Southern California, was out for the season and had been placed on the injured reserve list with a broken bone in his leg suffered Saturday night when San Diego and Minnesota fought to a 14-14 overtime tie.

Sale ends Saturday, September 27.

Busing gets warm welcome

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Southbound school buses of mostly white students and northbound buses of mostly minority students crossed the Calaveras River for the first time two weeks ago.

The destinations were segregated high schools at opposite ends of this steamy delta city that has been cut by a racial rift wider than the Calaveras.

But the bused students debarked to welcome banners and friendly smiles — not rocks or racial epithets.

Many people were surprised by the smooth start, because on and off for six years, the busing controversy has divided this farm region port of nearly 120,000. It washed one school superintendent out of office. It spawned an antibusing group and predictions of turmoil. It carried warnings of "another Boston."

How then did the Stockton Unified School District bridge the community gap when so many others have failed?

"After the court found we were illegally segregated, our approach to the problem was that we were facing it as a community," said Supt. William C. Carey. "The school district was not facing it alone."

On Oct. 9, 1974, Superior Court Judge John F. Keane declared the district deliberately segregated its pupils by using a neighborhood school system, and he ordered preparation of a desegregation program.

The high school population of about 5,000 was roughly 49 per cent Anglo, 29 per cent Mexican-American, 15 per cent black and 10 per cent others including Asians and Indians. Last year, one school was about 72 per cent Anglo, a second 75 per cent black and Mexican-American, and a third in good racial balance.

"There was segregation. Anybody who has ever lived in Stockton knows the facts in the court judgment are true," said board President Margaret Shelton. "The only argument of the community is whether segregation is bad and whether it should be dealt with at the school level with busing."

Although the district made an unsuccessful appeal of the judge's order, the trustees bowed to it and ordered preparation last February of a desegregation plan which would equalize student population sizes and curricula in the three high schools.

"We went around the community every night speaking to groups ranging from 20 to 400 persons, showing the plans to generate community understanding of the problem," Carey recalled in a recent interview. "We called the situation a dilemma."

"We asked for the community's ideas and incorporated them," he explained. "The most basic opposition was expressed at the meetings. There were concerns about the quality of educational programs and safety. They were mainly expressed by whites. But some black parents also were worried about how their kids would be received."

Meanwhile, officials asked for the support of students at a citywide convocation, and the students formed a pro-desegregation group called SS Desire. They returned to their respective schools to explain the district's proposed plans and found that students favored desegregation 2 to 1.

Relieves Tormenting Rectal Pain And Itch, Helps Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues

... Due to inflammation. Gives prompt, temporary relief from such burning itch and pain in many cases.

The burning itch and pain caused by infection and inflammation in hemorrhoidal tissues can cause much suffering. But there is an exclusive formulation that in many cases gives prompt relief for hours from this itch and pain so that the sufferer is more comfortable again. It also actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by inflammation and infection.

Tests by doctors on hundreds of patients in New York City, Washington, D.C. and at a Mid-west Medical Center reported similar successful results in many cases. This is the same medication you can buy at any drug counter under the name Preparation H.

Preparation H also lubricates to protect the inflamed surface area and it doesn't sting or smart. In fact, it has very soothing qualities which make it especially helpful during the night when itching becomes more intense.

There's no other formula like Preparation H. In ointment or suppository form.

Her car went off the road, hit a curb and power pole and rolled over, coming to rest on its top. She was unhurt. The baby, Chad L. McCowan, was treated for minor injuries at Chino General Hospital.

An angry young man who said his bicycle was nearly struck by a passing car Sunday afternoon, hurled a rock at the car breaking its rear window as it sped away.

'Pressing flesh' can be fatal

"This incident under no circumstances will prevent me or preclude me from contacting the American people as I travel from one state to another and one community to another," President Ford said shortly after the attempt on his life in Sacramento.

Thanks to the alertness of his Secret Service bodyguard and a great deal of sheer good luck, what happened — or almost happened — on a fine, sunny day in a park outside the California state capitol remains just that: an incident, a bizarre footnote rather than another ugly, bloodstained chapter in modern American political history.

Again we have been made frighteningly aware, as we were in Dallas in 1963, that despite the best protection it is humanly possible to provide, despite the most elaborate security precautions, our presidents are relatively easy targets for a determined assassin.

What is especially sobering about the incident in Sacramento is that it was apparently no well thought-out plan or plot against the President. It had all the earmarks of an impulsive, opportunistic act by a deranged individual. What saved President Ford was that his would-be assassin, Lynette Fromme, simply did not know how to operate the pistol she held a scant few feet from his body.

The conjecture that has been offered, that the President's assailant did not intend to kill him but was merely seeking publicity for some cause she thinks she stands for, or as a warning to the so-called power structure, is perhaps even more disturbing in its implications.

Are our presidents, not to mention our candidates for the presidency, not only to be threatened by the dark designs of the dedicated assassins but now also to be hostage to the whims of the sick individuals who infect our society and who are present in even the most spontaneous crowds?

Again we have been told that unless we want to lock our presidents inside the White House, or permit them to appear before the people only in bullet-proof containers, the ever-present possibility of assassination is simply a risk that goes with the job. But while President Ford, as well as his predecessors, have accepted that risk, many people are asking today whether that risk is as necessary as it may have been before television gave a president a means other than personal contact of presenting himself to the public.

It is highly dubious that any essential purpose is served by the hectic ritual of hand-waving and hand-shaking most of our recent presidents have delighted in — "pressing the flesh," as Lyndon B. Johnson called it. Certainly, as far as being translated into votes for the president or his party, as a way of enlightening the people about his policies, or of himself learning the people's problems and concerns, its usefulness must approach the vanishing point.

Those who greet a president most warmly may actually have no intention of voting for him. They simply want to be able to say that they touched a president.

Political animals that they are, our presidents seem to have a natural need to bask in the adulation of the crowd. But do thoughtful Americans really need it, or want it? As more than one observer has urged, surely the traditional airport motorcade and casual mingling with the people to "press the flesh" and all the other political hoopla can be minimized.

In ancient Rome, a hero of the state who was given a triumphal parade was accompanied by someone holding a laurel wreath over his head who is said to have whispered in his ear, "Remember, you are but a mortal."

What hangs over our leaders' heads today is not a laurel wreath but the high-powered rifle and body-blasting pistol. They are more mortal than ever.

Welcome to the new cars!

Anderson's muckraking

Dear Editor:

Regarding Jack Anderson's column Wednesday, Sept. 3rd, entitled "F.B.I.'s File on Dr. King" I think the F.B.I. was wrong in harassing Dr. King, that Jack Anderson was wrong in publicizing the "alleged" sexual activities of the good doctor, and that the Progress-Bulletin — in the spirit of fearless journalism, no doubt — was wrong in printing that muckraking article. Let's remember the good he did and leave his private life out of it.

Yours truly,

Phil Carroll, La Verne

Bureaucracy

Dear Editor:

So! Busing of kids from hither and yon according to the color of their skins isn't discrimination? If not, what is it? Maybe the kids would prefer to walk to school with their brothers, sisters, or friends. Why not?

H. E. W. hews to the line that black is different. Any school rash enough to treat them indifferently (the same) gets cut off at the pockets and probably hauled into court. In spite of Congress in the act of 1954 making busing for racial balance a no no, the courts solemnly nod approval. Both the courts or H.E.W. deny they use the quota systems, that's illegal. They just clobber the schools that don't use quotas.

There should be some way to control an over-zealous Big Brother. Let's hope we find it before all our freedoms are down the drain.

Murder devices disclosed

WASHINGTON — The Senate Intelligence Committee has evidence that exploding light bulbs, silencer-equipped machine guns built into attache cases, and dozens of other James Bond assassination weapons have been purchased in recent years by U.S. intelligence agencies.

This secret arsenal of exotic murder devices includes deadly, but seemingly innocent, household items and intricate remote-control explosive systems for blowing up unsuspecting victims from miles away.

The committee has documentation on these weapons, as well as first-hand information on another U.S. intelligence enterprise: a domestically trained assassination team whose members learn how to kill without leaving clues.

Sources close to the committee said there is no present evidence that the killer squad was put into action either abroad or in the United States. And the CIA has steadfastly played down any role in assassinations.

But our sources commented acidly, "If they weren't interested in killing, what do they need these things for? You don't use a light bulb that'll blow a head off to read the paper by." For six months, our sources said, the committee has been sitting on the evidence of the assassination weapons and murder squad. Some senators obviously were not even aware that the material was in the committee files.

Footnote: A committee spokesman declined comment.

HOFFA THEORY: Federal and Michigan investigators are officially keeping quiet on the Jimmy Hoffa case, but a top FBI expert on the Mafia has indulged in some rare private speculation on the mystery.

He barred use of his name, but he is convinced that Hoffa is dead, murdered not by mob godfathers, but by violent Teamsters.

This runs counter to theories of most law enforcement men and many of our Mafia contacts. But the agent's dissident view is so compelling it deserves an airing.

"He's killed. He's gone," said the agent in an interview. The most likely suspects in his opinion are "rebel unionists . . . a group of guys who were very loyal to (Teamster boss Frank) Fitzsimmons."

"They had so much trouble in Jimmy's home local 299 with the bombings and the beatings and the shootings and the like, I think they thought Jimmy had something to do with that," the agent went on.

"I think they just erased the guy, and I don't think the outfit (Mafia), was involved in it at all." Though the Mafia preferred dealing with Fitzsimmons, he said, it "would get along well under Jimmy as it did for many, many years. They wouldn't take that drastic step," the veteran Mafia specialist said. "Generally, in an outfit killing, it's because he violated some outfit rule. They only clip the guy if he hurt them.

"Jimmy, he didn't bother anyone."

The agent, who over the years had occasion to "work him (Hoffa) all the time," pointed out that Hoffa had been given a whopping pension grant by the Teamsters, but never let the money go to his head. Still, said the agent, he was "power mad. He was a hard guy to figure."

"He didn't drink or smoke, didn't womanize. He'd eat his meals in an airport restaurant and grab a sandwich and eat it on the run . . . and I don't think he ever really did enjoy it (the pension). He just didn't care for nice clothes or big cars . . . a rare bird."

For the agent, the final mystery about Hoffa was why he did not let it be known that an affidavit with all his revelations of the Mafia would surface if he were killed. This would be a form of insurance against kidnapping or assassination.

"You'd think he'd have some memoirs somewhere, an envelope," mused the agent. "But I don't think that would frighten . . . those people."

WASHINGTON WHIRL: After denying for months that "mail covers" had been put on anyone in 1975, the Pentagon thought better of it and confirmed to Sen. John Tunney, D-Calif., a few days ago that it had ordered 14 covers. The mail covers permit federal snoopers to keep track of all mail reaching the target of the probe . . .

Doc Peirsol Just in jest

There is no end to the brilliant thinking of some of our lawmakers — especially when they decide the popular and politic thing for them to do is to get on the conservation bandwagon. And so it is that one of our enterprising politicians is proposing legislation which would make it mandatory for contractors to install water saving toilets on all new home construction. Where the water used in toilet flushing is, now anywhere from 5 to 7 gallons, his bill would cut that flow to three and one half gallons. — Now don't get me wrong. I'm all for water conservation. But with that sort of cutback as a start, the horrible thought occurs to me: Just how far will our politicians go in the interest of conservation? As a long suffering skeptic, where government intervention is involved, I am prompted to ask: What's par on this hole anyway?

Creating the 'compleat' cop

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — When the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) announced its intention to spend more than $200,000 in the search for proper footwear for America's gendarmes, observers across the nation sighed in unison. The idea, to field test 300 pairs of shoes and then pay the Army for final development, was even criticized by cops themselves. It's absurd, said Seattle Police Chief Robert Hansen, because, for one thing, "police spend more time on their butts than their feet."

It has always been thus for LEAA, a youthful (six years old) and immature federal bureaucracy: logic has never fazed its relentless quest for ways to spend the taxpayers' coins. Set up originally as another government attempt to curb crime through innovation, the agency has succeeded in the latter but at the expense of the former.

While spending nearly $6 billion on some of the god-darndest, jim-dandiest, gee-williker innovations in law enforcement history, crime in America during the period has risen by 40 per cent.

Great numbers of people in this town are thus beginning to wonder whether there isn't a cheaper way for muggers and rapists to succeed.

LEAA, of course, will have none of the talk of modification. Its latest project, for example, is a 15-week, $541,623 study "to improve the physical fitness of the nation's police officers." Noting that too many cops are going the way of all flesh, while criminals presumably keep fit and trim, LEAA proposes the development of exercises and exercise manuals which will "build confidence and effective police responses in dangerous situations."

Never mind that there are on the market today more exercise plans than there are police to use them, LEAA says $541,623 more is needed to develop something suitable for the nation's chubby constabulary.

At that, the expenditures of half a million for exercise is cheap by LEAA standards. It once spent $25 million to conduct an opinion poll of crime and is now spending $300,000 more to evaluate the success of the original project. When the agency was first created, moreover, it established a $30 million Pilot Cities Program that mercifully was cut short (after $20 million) when other government investigators determined the project had no real national significance.

In general, a chief complaint against LEAA is that precious few of its expensive programs have national significance. Another complaint is that many of the programs have no local significance either.

Last year, at a cost of $1 million, LEAA invented a "citizen's alarm" wristwatch which was said to enable wearers to warn authorities of personal troubles. Unfortunately, the watches do not transmit signals over 500 feet, which somewhat limits protection for everybody who is not bedridden. Besides, say realists, a crime victim able to afford a watch alarm is the one who would have adequate locks on his doors and windows in the first place.

This wristwatch solution to criminal superiority, by the way, seems to be something of a fixation with LEAA. Currently it is budgeting $350,000 to develop a watch that will monitor the degree of stress experienced by cops on active duty. Essentially, and no kidding, LEAA wants police, at a glance, to be able to measure the stress engendered by various activities.

The good purpose of all this, however, has not been adequately explained. If a cop notes that his stress rate is too high as he chases a hoodlum, does he give up the pursuit? LEAA does not easily broach such incidents.

In time, perhaps, if LEAA is allowed continuation of its $770 million budget (which is $300 million more than that of the FBI), the agency will create the complete cop: Soft of shoe, hard of muscle and electronically motivated. Besides this he will be well-dressed in lightweight armor that LEAA, has developed at $1.5 million, for use as sports jacket material.

Ah, yes, that'll be the day. And by Godfrey the crooks should be forewarned because by then LEAA will have spent so much money there won't be any left for stealing.

Alfalfa bargain down the road, neighbor!

Today I spent $2.06 for eight ounces of alfalfa seeds. This seems an unconscionable amount.

I sprout them and use sprouts in salads and sandwiches. Even at the price I paid, the cost is less than buying lettuce, considering the amount that sprouts from one tablespoon of seed.

Is there any place one can buy this sort of thing at a lesser price? The brand was El Molino. — G. I., Claremont.

If you are willing to change brands, you can buy six ounces of Earth Harvest health seeds for 95 cents at Second Street Health Foods, Claremont, not far from your home.

We are writing to let you know about the Direct Selling Association's willingness to help you resolve consumer complaints against our members.

Our members, numbering about 100, are honor bound to conduct business fairly and squarely, and will take steps to correct any improper practices that are brought to their attention. — Janet M. Swenson, manager of consumer affairs, DSA.

Among literature you sent us was a list of home buying tips we want to pass along to readers:

— Be cautious of any seller who starts out, "I'm taking a survey . . ." "You've been selected . . ." or, "You've just won . . ."

— Ask for identification which shows the sales person's name, local address and the company he or she represents. If in doubt, check with your local Better Business Bureau.

— Buy only because you need the product, not because the seller is working his way through college, is a veteran, is handicapped, etc.

— Choose wisely. Select quality products at fair prices.

— Refuse to sign contracts which include offers to refund your money if you recommend friends.

— Insist on seeing a guarantee in writing. All reputable firms have one.

— Take sufficient time to think over your purchase. Don't be afraid to ask questions. Demand direct answers.

— Remember that, when you make a purchase in your home for $25 or more, you are entitled by law to a three-business-day period in which to reconsider your purchase. The period begins on the first day after the day you signed the sales contract. In addition, sales people must orally inform you about it as well. Beware of any contract which does not contain this provision.

For people who want to contact the Direct Selling Association directly, here is your address: 1730 M St., NW, Washington, D.C. 20036.

I am writing in reference to a letter in the Sept. 1 Action Line column about a widow who didn't know how to drive but would enjoy participating in activities for people over 60.

Action Line was helpful to me the first Christmas I was a widow. I am still trying to help others to help myself fight loneliness.

I am thankful that I learned to drive at 59, just two years before my husband died.

I belong to the Roamers Club of Pomona. We have very good times on our trips.

Maybe I could help the lady who became a widow two years ago and who doesn't drive by taking her places and introducing her to our club. I already have tickets for Senior Citizens Day at the Los Angeles County Fair. — M.S., Pomona.

We gave your name and phone number to her daughter, author of the letter you are answering.

I need your help to get my subscription to Harper's Magazine started or a refund of my check.

After I answered an advertisement from KFI for Harper's, I received my four free issues and decided to take a 16-month subscription at $5.98. The first check I sent in made out to Harper's Weekly was returned to me marked "not our check."

The second check correctly made out was sent on May 21 and cashed on June 2. Following this I received at least three invoices for an eight-month subscription for $4.97. I wrote to the subscription department in Ohio stating the facts but have got no answer.

Next I called a toll-free number. I talked with Robin Somet at Harper's New York address. This was about Aug. 1. Will you please see what you can do? — R.F., Pomona.

After we contacted Harper's, we received a letter of thanks from you so promptly that we suspect the credit for getting your subscriptions started should go to Robin in New York.

Ann Landers

Natural mother usually wins

Dear Ann Landers: I am not crazy. Every word of this is true. Please help me.

I am an older woman with a sick husband. I babysit for a living. Often, divorced ladies leave their small children at our home overnight or for a weekend. Mrs. X brought her three-week-old infant here for one night. She gave me $3 and left the baby's formula.

Three weeks later she showed up and said she was sorry she had left the baby so long but she had to go out of town unexpectedly. She gave me another $3 and said, "I'll be back tomorrow."

Ann, that was four years ago. My husband and I have become so attached to this little girl she is like our very own. We have bought all her clothes and given her the best of everything.

Last week, Mrs. X returned out of a clear blue sky and threatened to call the law if we refused to let her take her child "home." She said she had had a nervous breakdown but is completely recovered now. The little girl cried when her mother took her away. We know where she lives but we don't know what to do. Please advise us. We are heartbroken. — More Than Flesh and Blood

Dear Friend: My heart aches for you both, but you need a lawyer. If you can't afford one, contact legal aid. But don't get your hopes too high, dear. In cases such as yours, the natural mother usually wins.

Dear Ann Landers: My girlfriend and I are both 15. We are very interested in guys (especially two) but they don't seem to know we are alive.

Can you give us some advice on the best way to ask a fellow for a date? And please print this letter because it's a problem a lot of teenage girls are faced with these days. Most guys we know are more interested in sports and things like that. It's just rotten the way we sit home all the time. Thanks for whatever ideas you can come up with. — Dateless And Eager To Be Friendly

Dear D. and E.: There is no "best way" to ask a guy for a date. In fact, the best way to turn a guy off is to be too aggressive. Girls mature more rapidly than boys. Many 15-year-old guys (even 16- and 17-) are not even aware that there is a second sex. My advice is to cool it, Chickens. Do some needlepoint. Get interested in volunteer work. Help your mom with the cooking. When the guys are ready they'll let you know. Until then — leave 'em alone.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife and I need a referee. You're it. Every time we are invited to the home of a friend for dinner or just to visit, Martha feels she must bring a present. If we go for a weekend it must be a rather expensive gift.

I say this is nonsense. People invite us because they want us and no gift is necessary. Also it makes them feel they must do the same. Who's right? — O City Battlers

Dear Bats: Weekend guests should bring a gift. But it's not necessary to bring something every time you are invited for dinner or just to visit. Once in a while a gift — flowers, candy or an unusual memento — is definitely in order.

Ah crod ovah country-western

"Oh say can y' see, bah the doan's early lot, what so prodly we hailed, at the twalot's last gleamin' . . ."

These words, more or less sung by Glenn Campbell prior to the 1975 All-Star game, reminded me — or brot to mah mahnd — that the era of country-western and bluegrass music is upon us, with the resultant erosion of what we euphemistically call the English language. If you are going to understand the music of today's Dobros and 12-string geetars, you must adapt to an entirely new dialect born of the hills of Kentucky, the South and most of the West (Waist).

Y'kin coal me a lar, but I am convinced that the current popularity of these hillbilly ballads has more to do with illiteracy among our young than comic books and television — and that's saying a lot. Educationwise, you'd have to say that tom's 'r hod. What can you expect of a child who listens to a popular guitar hero chanting, "Goodbah, doan crah, ah'm goan fah awah."? (Hey, Junior, how come you got a D in public speaking?)

The C-W clan does not recognize the ultimate "g." Guitars are ringin' and people are singin', but ah'm sah'n and crah'n for you. You set mah hot afar, and even though we're not married, ah'm dah'n for the sot of you. From moan 'til dock.

Since the aim of the teachers in har education is to promote, among other things, communication, I think there should be courses offered in Country-Western, Folkspeak and Illiteracy, usually identical.

Final exams would include identification of the vocalist who sang

"Your hot is mon" and "Ah crod and sod for you." Also the bass guitar on "Ah'll meet yuh at the age of town" and "Bay-u-bee, bay-u-bee, bay-u-bee," which constitutes the lyrics of half the country rock tunes today.

Country-western types, whether, jazz, folk, soul, R & B, rock or sock, get plenty of mileage from each little word. "Texas" becomes "Tay-ux-us" and "Bless" becomes "blay-us" as in "Blay-us yore l'il hot, bay-u-bee!"

Another interesting distortion of the language by the harmonic hillbillys involves the letter "i" (ah). Thus "Ah thank ah luv yuh more'n anythang ay-ulss." Or, "Whan we're potted, than mah hot dahs within me."

"Hang don yuh haid, Tom Dooley, hang don yuh haid and crah . . ."

Dr. Lamb

Ulcer patient has problems

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 65-year-old man and have had a duodenal ulcer for many years.

My problem is that no amount of dieting does me any good. I never could eat between meals. I seem to get real full in a day's time and cannot choke food down. I also gain weight if I eat more than three meals a day. When I gain weight I feel lousy, short of breath, can't stoop over without becoming nauseated and light-headed.

The doctor said I should eat every two hours. It doesn't help my digestion, and the only thing that does me any good is Maalox.

I'm 5 feet 7 and weigh 155 pounds. I normally weighed 135 to 140 pounds before I started the diets the doctors put me on. I would certainly appreciate any advice you can give me.

DEAR READER — Every ulcer patient has to be treated individually. Perhaps your doctor has a good reason for his recommendations.

There are some generalizations, though, that might interest you. The diet is often of limited value in the treatment of ulcers. Recent studies show that most people can even eat some spicy foods without it affecting the healing or management of the ulcer. You can eat so-called roughage too, and it will not make any difference.

The problem with many of the older ulcer diets is that they included too many calories, because they were loaded with fat, particularly saturated fat. That leads to obesity and an increase in heart and vascular disease.

The protein in foods tends to neutralize the acid-digestive juice in the stomach. But you don't have to use cream or whole milk for that. Unless you have poor tolerance to milk, which causes bloating and discomfort in many adults with and without ulcers, you could use fortified skim milk. A glass between meals might help. If you don't like the first brand try another. Some brands of fortified skim milk taste a great deal better than others.

Dr. Miller

Monkeys don't make good pets

DEAR DR. MILLER: I'm getting a lot of static from friends because I want to get a monkey as a pet. I personally think monkeys are real neat, and if I got one I would take real good care of it. If I can find a monkey that's legal to keep as a pet, is there anything wrong with that, now really! — C.T.

DEAR C.T.: In the first place, monkeys are not neat. As a matter of fact, those kept as so-called pets prove to be just the opposite. Secondly, for every living primate (monkeys included, of course) in the United States, ten have died along the way. And finally, though there have been many well-intentioned pet primate owners in this country in the past, the poor animals, those few who originally made it, have hardly had much to celebrate. The average longevity of primates in captivity is less than a year.

Jacoby's bridge

First . . . don't draw trumps

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "The American Bridge Teacher's quarterly is always a fine source for hands used by teachers to illustrate points of play."

Jim: "They are almost always very simple and straight forward, so that even beginners can understand and follow them."

Oswald: "Today's hand is described by Paul Boardman. It is an exercise in not drawing trumps."

Jim: "Paul points out a trump or diamond lead would ruin South's party, but the actual lead was the jack of clubs. This enables South to make the hand by the simple expedient of cross-ruffing out the hearts and clubs and finally throwing East in with his ace of trumps. The line of play is to win the first trick with the ace of clubs while discarding a heart from dummy. Ruff a club; cash ace of hearts, cross ruff the rest of the hearts and clubs and lead a spade."

"East has to take his ace and must either allow South to ruff in dummy and discard a diamond or lead away from his king up to dummy's ace-queen."

Ask the Jacobys

A reader from Connecticut asks if you hold spades A Q 10 9 6 4 and are in a four-spade contract, how do you play your trumps if dummy is void?

The answer to this one is to play ace and then queen. In case one opponent held K x x x and his partner J x, this will pick up the jack and get you out with the loss of just one trump trick.

Trussell scores movie

Christopher Trussell, director of music at Claremont Presbyterian Church and chairman of Webb School's Fine Arts Department, has recently completed composing the score for "Hot Potato," a Warner Brothers film.

The karate-style action movie will be released at Christmas. It is the Claremont composer's fourth film score. He previously composed music for "Night Fright," "Something Remembering" and "Rim of Hell." He has also done scores for numerous documentaries, one of which won him a Chicago Art Critics Award, and for nearly 100 television commercials.

English-born Trussell, formerly organist and choir director at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Pomona, directs several chorales, including the Claremont Boys Choir. In 1973 his hymn, "The Church of Christ Has Work To Do," won first place in a contest sponsored by the Choral Conductors Guild of California.

Psychological profile

Although she is the first woman ever to attempt to assassinate a President of the United States, Lynette Fromme, who on Sept. 5 aimed a gun at Gerald Ford in a crowded Sacramento park, fits the same general psychological profile of male political assassins: She is lonely, alienated, emotionally and mentally unstable.

Dr. David Abrahamsen, psychiatrist and social analyst, who made a study of potential, suspected and actual assassins of Presidents and government officials, has drawn a portrait of the typical assassin. He found all those interviewed had remarkably similar family backgrounds.

He discovered that in childhood most had no male figure they could identify with because their fathers were weak, unassuming or missing. All had a pattern of dependency relationship with their mothers. Even when it seemed they tried to keep away from them, their mothers emotionally overpowered and overwhelmed them. There was also a consistently dominant history of anger at male authority.

As children, Dr. Abrahamsen noted, the majority fantasized that they had great power. As adults, their extraordinary ambitions were out of all proportion to their intellectual and emotional assets. He found the political assassin a personal failure, and an isolated, lonely human being who sought revenge for the wrongs he felt had been done to him. Often, he projected the deep hatred he felt for a family figure to an authority figure in public life.

According to Dr. Abrahamsen, the political assassin is usually an emotionally unstable individual who lives in a fantasy world and acts alone. He is not really as concerned with politics as with self-aggrandizement. This view is also perceived by Dr. Frederic Wertham, coiner of the term "magnicide," which originally was used by the French to describe the killing of kings.

Dr. Wertham sees magnicide as broader than that because of its enormous effects when applied, for example, to the assassination of someone as eminent as Dr. Martin Luther King.

"The bigger the person killed, the more coverage the killer is given," he observes. "The mass media gives him enormous coverage. This is probably the difference between magnicide today and in other times."

Some psychologists feel that all would-be political assassins have been certain they were in the right and that all committed their act of violence in the name of political, religious or patriotic motivations.

The fantasy of personal power is so strong, says Dr. Abrahamsen, that a real or would-be political assassin will deny having threatened government officials even when caught in the act because, like a child caught stealing, he convinces himself he didn't do it. He acts the way he wishes a situation to be. He may wish a President or a Presidential candidate dead, he may act upon that wish but, when caught, he may wish himself innocent of his act.

The life histories of assassins John Wilkes Booth, Lee Harvey Oswald, James Earl Ray and Sirhan Sirhan show them to be alienated, withdrawn, frightened, insecure, threatened by any political movement that dares closeness, equality, and meaningful involvement.

William J. Crotty, co-director of a report on assassination to the President's Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, found that most assassins have led emotionally unstable and unsatisfactory lives. "They experienced an absence or disruption of the normal family relationship between parent and child," he noted. "Love, warmth, acceptance were almost totally missing."

Lee Harvey Oswald was described this way by the Warren Commission. He is "moved by an overriding hostility to his environment. He does not appear to have been able to establish meaningful relationships with other people. He was perpetually discontented with the world around him. He perpetually sought for himself a place in history."

John Spiegel, Director of the Lemberg Center on Violence, observes that assassination "is not a new strain in our national life. What is different is that in the last two decades assassins have been choosing as their targets higher level officials and candidates." This may be because it is easier finding and tracking national political figures. Rallies are advertised, campaign schedules announced. Spiegel sees violence, and fascination with violence, as a firmly entrenched national tradition... as is our habit of the gun.

Heretofore men almost exclusively filled the ranks of assassins. Now Lynette Fromme, a woman, joins them. This does not surprise crime experts because homicides committed by females have doubled in the past decade in the United States.
